- A It is a favourite because it is small and mobile.
- B It works exactly the same as a laptop.
- C It can entertain you while you are travelling.

Linda, have you seen any good movies lately?

No, Sue. But my siblings and I plan to catch one this weekend.

That's great! May I join you?

Sure. We'll decide on the movie once we get there.

Fine with me. Saturday at 3? Our usual place?

Yes to both. See you there then.

- 8 Which of the following is true?

Extreme sports known as action sports (0) or alternative sports are ultimately a little more dangerous than conventional sports. This is (9) the extreme speeds, heights, situations, and landscapes that these sports take place in. Although some people think extreme sports are extremely (10) situations, they may not always require extreme levels of athleticism. These include wingsuit flying and freediving. These activities (11) the difficult elements of conventional sports with dangerous obstacles. The added difficulty (12) an extreme adrenaline rush that extreme sports athletes love and crave.
One of the amazing things about extreme sports is that they can be done anywhere on earth or even in space. Skydiving takes place in the air. The possibilities are truly endless. Depending on the extreme sports activity (13), the price range can vary widely. This is because some associated costs involving transportation can (14) the price of activities significantly. Conversely, many extreme sports can be cheap or require a one time (15) such as skateboarding.
When participating in extreme sports, it is important to exercise extreme safety (16) to make sure that no one gets injured. These usually involve easy precautionary ones which may reduce the risks (17) Sometimes, the guides can be a little intense about safety precautions. Although it seems irritating, they are just looking out (18) the participants' best interests and want them to have a safe and enjoyable experience. Extreme sports by their very nature are dangerous, so always make sure to practise safety in whatever extreme sport attempted.

Part 3

You are going to read an extract of an article. For questions 19 to 26, choose the correct answer (A, B, C or D) and mark the correct letter A, B, C or D on your answer sheet.

I rushed off the train, excited about finally getting a chance to reconnect with old friends in Kedah. I couldn't contain my smile as I hurried towards the exit. Every second wasted was a second away from my friends. I prayed that the taxi I called would arrive soon, that every car in front of us would move faster, that every stoplight would be green. I just wanted to be there already!

My three friends meant so much to me. The four of us attended the same secondary school in Kedah. Surprisingly, the demanding, stressful year of Form Three became my favourite school year because of them. One of them was a school debater while the other two were an athlete and a football player respectively. They were the ones who took time from their packed schedules to help me improve in the subjects I struggled with. They were the ones who reassured me when I was worried. During that one year, we became closer than friends I had known for years.

Daniel was a hardworking mathematics genius who was always on top of his studies. He was also a talented writer. I remember how once, with surgical precision, he helped me cut down my sixpage English essay to three pages, shortening it, making it much precise. Megat was everyone's personal therapist: there was evidently no one he would not help out in a pinch. He was the person you would call whether you were being chased by a dog or just needed someone to rant to. Finally, there was Aidan, the one I could always rely on to reply to texts almost instantly in our group chat. Aidan was a strong speaker, as well as funny and engaging. I admired how his speeches and rebuttals could be firm and critical, while he remained logical and calm.

We became close network of support in every way. From playing an escape game as a team of four to sharing our favourite books, we all contributed to the group and learned from one another. Over time, we rubbed off on each other so much that our catchphrases, the ways we talked and even the way we texted became similar.

We decided to meet up at the mall across from our old school. When I saw the place again, the nostalgic memories flooded my head. There was a bakery where I used to buy the next day's breakfast, the restaurant where so many birthdays we celebrated and the iconic juice stand with incredible mango smoothies. It's true, you will never know the value of a moment until it becomes a memory.

As I walked into Sunshine Mart, I remembered buying packed nasi lemak with fried chicken, biscuits and chewy candies. The same cashier was still working there, the one who always smiled and talked to me. But when our eyes met, his no longer lit up. His lips no longer lifted into a smile. I was nothing more than a stranger to him. His memory of me had faded away. I felt my stomach tighten, worried this was an indication of more disappointment to come. I took a deep breath and tried to get rid of this awful feeling. It didn't matter, as long as I could see my friends.

The entrance bell rang, and I glimpsed a familiar haircut over the top of the aisle. Megat! He's here! I felt hopeful and excited. A memory. But something else was buried deep inside me too, something that made me nervous and worried, trapped inside a bottle that began to unscrew its lid. I greeted him with a smile. He replied, "Hey." Silence.

It will pick up, I told myself. I was never much good at starting conversations anyway. While we were awkwardly chatting, Daniel came in. He took me by surprise. In one's memories, the people you leave behind never change. In my mind, he was still the one we would tease playfully about his height. Now, I marvelled at his figure. He was taller and thinner.

We tried to catch up, talking about all the things that had happened to us since our lives separated. Megat had finally adjusted to his college life. Daniel was accepted into a prestigious foundation programme and I was truly happy for him. In an instant, it felt like we were back to the time when we all studied like crazy together, sharing our stress over homework and examinations, but soon, the answers became a little shorter and the silence between each question became a little longer. Before we knew it, we were struggling to make conversation.

My head began to spin. Texting made everything much easier. There were no awkward silences, no anxious glances. No need to come up with a topic simply just to talk. Had I become a stereotypical teen who could only communicate on his phone? All these thoughts filled my head in a simple second of silence.

- 19 In paragraph 1, why did the writer rush off the train?
 - A He wanted to get a taxi quickly.
 - B He was late to see his school friends.
 - C He could not wait to see his old school.
 - D He would have a reunion with his friends.
- 20 In paragraph 2, how did the writer become close to his friends?
 - A They shared their school problems and helped each other.
 - B They supported him when he struggled with studies.
 - C They helped him with all of his homework.
 - D They went to the same school together.
- 21 In paragraph 3, what did the writer say about his friends?
 - A Megat was a good listener.
 - B Aidan spent his time writing speeches.
 - C Daniel loved to solve mathematics problems.
 - D All of his friends had identical characteristics.
- 22 In paragraph 5, why did the writer use the phrase flooded my head?
 - A He used to hang out at the mall after school with his friends.
 - B He recalled pleasant moments he had at the mall.
 - C He planned to do many activities once he met his friends.
 - D He thought that memories should be cherished.
- 23 The writer concluded that the cashier
 - A could not be bothered by him as he was busy.
 - B was not as friendly as he used to be.
 - C pretended not to know him.
 - D had forgotten him.
- 24 How did the writer feel about talking with each other in person?
 - A He became shy and timid.
 - B He was insecure.
 - C He felt uneasy.
 - D He regretted meeting them.
- 25 Why did the conversation lose its sparks?
 - A They had lost interest in each other.
 - B They did not know how to respond to some questions.
 - C They were not willing to share their recent life experiences.
 - D They were not used to communicating with each other in person.
- 26 What can we learn from the writer's experience?
 - A We should build relationships through face-to-face communication.
 - B We should know that socialising with friends in person is important.
 - C We should know that social media can ruin friendships.
 - D We should keep and maintain old friendships.

Part 4 Questions 27 to 32

You are going to read an article about school sports day. Six sentences have been removed from the article. Choose from the sentences A to H the one which fits each gap (27 to 32). There are two extra sentences which you do not need to use.

Mark your answers on the separate answer sheet.

School Sports Day

Sonool oponts bay
My school holds sports day every year. It takes place in March every year. Each year, all the classes present different acts to the audience. The acts are specially chosen for junior and senior classes. For instance, the junior classes perform simple acts like aerobics while the senior classes perform difficult acts like forming pyramids and cheerleading stunts.
The sports day at my school takes place with full preparation. 27 We get extra time to practise for the sports day. It also helps to cut down on some academic activities and this, needless to say, alleviates stress among students.
All of us practise in the sun and try to perfect our moves. 28 The parents come excitedly and watch and film their children perform harmoniously with other students. There is always a chief guest invited to our sports day who inaugurates and concludes the ceremony with his or her encouraging words.
Moreover, there are also marathons and walkathons which are very interesting to watch.
29 The most number of wins in my school have been procured by the Blue house.
Sports Day is my favourite day because it helps me demonstrate my talents. I am a very athletic person and enjoy playing sports. I can run marathons and won them with ease. 30 Moreover, on our sports day we are allowed to bring snacks of all kinds. I share them with my friends and we have a whale of a time while waiting to perform.
On sports day, I always bring back home at least one trophy or medal. 31 I have a great collection of certificates, awards and medals at home which signifies my wins on the sports day. Looking at them gives me a sense of achievement.
Sports Day is a very exciting day that every student looks forward to. Every student can participate in different types of sporting events. 32 It helps me showcase my athletic abilities in front of enthusiastic audience and most importantly, playing sports and games teaches me discipline and develops the spirit of sportsmanship in me.

A	Personally, taking part in sports day is very meaningful to me.

- E On the final day, we invite our parents to watch us perform our acts.
- It gives a chance for students to showcase their athletic abilities especially if they are lacking in their academic performance.
- F It happens on the basis of the division of houses.
- C My friends are also very athletic so we wait for this day throughout the year.
- G It begins two months earlier so that students can perfect their acts.
- My parents are proud of me D although it may seem to be a very small achievement
- H There are many spectators coming to support the students who perform.

Part 5 Questions 33 to 40

We interviewed six teenagers about their opinions on social media. Read the texts below and answer the questions that follow.

Teens and Social Media

A - HAFIY, 17 years old

As one of the dominant social networks, my dad has always used Facebook to post my pictures since I was little. Although he tried to get me to actively use Facebook, I only log in to play games. Sometimes I do have to ask my dad not to share so many pictures of us but I know he loves it.

B - ALEESYA, 13 years old

I started using TikTok when my classmate showed me this hilarious meme on the site. The videos are limited to 15 seconds where I can also create my own entertaining contents with friends. It is fun to reuse audio and make my own contents based on whatever is trending at the moment with great music, filters and stickers.

C - DAVE, 15 years old

Unlike traditional TV, where the content is being selected for you at a specified time, YouTube gives me a sense of control. I can choose what I want to watch and when to do so. I follow specific YouTubers and subscribe to their channels based on their contents. Mine is definitely the gaming techniques.

D – BUDRIZ, 16 years old

I love photography and Instagram is the greatest platform for it. I could get millions of incredible photos, either filtered or not, from all over the globe. Besides following the popular accounts, I also search for specific pictures using the 'hashtags' function so I can instantly view my choices.

E - JENNY, 17 years old

I tend to express myself through writing and Twitter sets the amazing space for it. I can tweet and follow anyone who interests me, from my best friend to famous celebrities. I usually post texts of my daily rambling but I can jump into any relevant conversation I want and share my thoughts with the public.

F – MARYAM, 14 years old

Being playful with friends online is fun and that is why I love Snapchat. I usually use it to create short videos of me making funny faces using filters and effects in the app. The best feature is I can put the time limit for viewing of my videos and pictures. This will secure them from the risk of going public and embarrassing me.

Questions 33 – 36

Which paragraph (A - F) describe the following experiences of social media? Mark your answers on the separate answer sheet.

	Statement	Paragraph
33	I prefer security over my content.
