Excellent natural ant repellent; smells great!

Earthkind's natural pest repellents have really been the answers to our prayers as we can't and won't use any toxic poisons in our home – we have pets, as well as guests with kids. We are using Stay Away Ants in our kitchen cupboards and it's working great. We also like the fact that it keeps away bugs, rather than kills them, so we don't have to deal with dead bugs. All their products smell wonderful too.

- 6 According to the review, the product is
- A poisonous for animals.
 - B effective in killing bugs.
 - C using kids-friendly ingredients.

Following an announcement early last month, WhatsApp is finally announcing the Channels feature to Malaysian users. For information, WhatsApp Channels functions similarly to Telegram channels, where users can join a channel to receive updates from people and organisations via messages containing text, images, videos, stickers, and polls. This could range from a government agency to sports teams, where the admins can use the feature to broadcast one-way messages to followers. Channels that users join will be muted by default; users will have to manually unmute each channel they join in order to receive notifications.

- 7 From the news, we know that
- A Channels is in default mode only.
 - B followers can only be silent readers.
 - C polls is a special feature in Channels.

Announcement

The Nature Club will organise a 'Tree Planting Day' next Saturday, September 21st. This programme aims to beautify the school and offer a conducive learning environment. We plan to plant approximately 100 trees around the school premises. The Sayang Nursery is going to sponsor our school with free saplings, so pupils please remember to bring all essential gardening tools from home. If interested, please send your name to the teacher in charge, Mr. Adam, by September 14th. Together, we can create a better world! Let's go green.

- 8 According to the announcement, pupils
- A can volunteer to help the club promote the event.
 - B have to bring their own equipment to plant trees.
 - C are compulsory to join the go green activity.

Part 3

Questions 19 to 26 are based on the following passage.

You are going to read an extract from an article. For question 19 to 26, choose the correct answer (A, B, C or D) and mark the correct letter A, B, C or D on your answer sheet.

From a young age, Raymond had been exposed to the vibrant customs of his ancestors. His family celebrated festivals passionately, their home filled with the aroma of traditional dishes passed down through generations. He often listened, wide-eyed, to his grandparents' stories about their homeland and the challenges they had overcome to provide their family with a better life.

Amanda, meanwhile, had been raised in a household where different languages, foods, and traditions coexisted harmoniously. Her parents had moved from distant lands, bringing with them a tapestry of customs that painted their home with the colours of multiple cultures. Amanda took pleasure in the variety of new things she was learning and experiencing.

As fate would have it, Raymond and Amanda found themselves in the same college, chasing their dreams and figuring out how to get through college. Despite coming from different backgrounds, yet they discovered each other and created a connection that would change their lives forever.

One day, Amanda invited Raymond to a multicultural fair that she had helped organised. The fair showcased a breathtaking array of performances, art and cuisines from around the world. Raymond was initially uncertain; feeling out of his element surrounded by the unfamiliar sights and sounds. However, as he wandered through the stalls, his doubts melted away, replaced by a sense of wonder. Amanda guided Raymond through the maze of cultures; introducing him to various dance forms, musical traditions and mouth-watering delicacies. They shared laughter over a plate of spicy Thai noodles and marveled at the detailed designs of African masks. Raymond found himself welcoming this new experience with an open heart, his mind expanding with every step.

In return, Raymond extended an invitation to Amanda to attend a traditional festival in his hometown. Amanda agreed with great joy. She was eager to dive into a world she had only seen in Raymond's stories. As they arrived at the festival grounds, Amanda was greeted by a kaleidoscope of colours, the sound of drums and flutes echoing through the air and filling it with their melodies. Raymond guided Amanda through the festivities, explaining the significance of each ritual and dance. Amanda was amazed by how seriously the people in the town took their traditions and she felt privileged to be a part of this sacred celebration. She joined in the rhythmic dances, her heart syncing with the pulse of the music.

As the day drew to a close, Raymond and Amanda sat beneath a starlit sky, sharing stories of their childhoods, their journeys, and the beauty they had discovered in each other's cultures. It was a moment of extreme connection, where the threads of their backgrounds intertwined to create a tapestry of shared experiences.

Over time, Raymond and Amanda's friendship deepened, their relationship strengthened by their mutual respect and curiosity for each other's cultural heritage. They began on a journey of exploration: visiting museums, attending workshops, and engaging in conversations that enhance their understanding of the world. Their friendship also inspired those around them to accept the beauty of diversity. Through their example, Raymond's family began combining elements of Amanda's culture into their festivities, and Amanda's parents eagerly learned traditional recipes from Raymond's family. The two families, once distant in their customs, began to build connections that went across borders and generations.

Raymond and Amanda's story was a testament to the power of cultural exchange and the transformative impact of friendship. Their lives had been woven together like threads in a tapestry, creating a harmonious blend of traditions and experiences that celebrated the richness of human heritage.

As they stood at the crossroads of their futures, Raymond and Amanda knew that their journey was just beginning. They were determined to keep learning about different cultures around the world, using their special bond to bring people together and help them understand each other. And so, hand in hand, they embarked on an adventure that would leave an indelible mark on their lives and the lives of those they touched.

Part 4

Questions 27 to 32 are based on an article about the digital world in youth.

You are going to read an article about conserving the environment. Six sentences have been removed from the article. Choose the sentences A to H the one which fits each gap (27 to 32). There are two extra sentences which you do not need to use.

Mark your answers on the separate answer sheet.

Conserving The Environment

It's heartening to see so many of you being very concerned about the environment. As you know, the earth cannot withstand the abuse of sustainable human activities anymore. Our consumptive lifestyle is eating up the Earth's resources.

27. . Most of us are still unaware that deforestation, industrial and vehicle emission contribute to the depletion of the ozone level, causing global warming, reducing agricultural yield and disturbing the world's eco-system. 28. .It's frightening, isn't it?

For the sake of convenience, we are using more plastics for wrapping and packaging. 29. .In this age of IT, the problem of disposing electronic waste is also another issue that needs to be tackled seriously.

In Penang, over the last two decades, there has been a sharp increase of waste going to the dumpsites. 30. Each day, Penangites on average, throw away some 1.5 kg of waste per person. Although Penang is a small state in a developing country, our 'throw-away' lifestyle has almost reached the level of a fully developed society.

Despite our relatively small population size, solid waste management is becoming a critical issue. On top of that, the shortage of landfill site is becoming a pressing problem. 31. .Let us transform our 'throw-away' culture to that of a conserving one and ultimately bring back the sparkle onto the island.

Wherever possible, waste reduction is the preferable option. 32. Reuse is possible for most of the items, even though old. Recycling is the third option. Lastly it may be possible to recover materials or energy from waste which cannot be reduced, reused or recycled.

Indeed, recycling saves energy and natural resources. Let us start by practising the 3R's at home, in school or even at the workplace. A small effort goes a long way in keeping our environment green, not only for ourselves, but for future generations.

- A This has resulted in a greater volume of non-biodegradable materials landing up in landfill.
- B The only solution now is to adopt recycling as a long-term strategy.
- C These result in a rise in sea level, flash flood and landslide.
- D This means we can use the resources wisely and responsibly.
- E It involves using resources to gain sustainable goods while maintaining environmental quality.
- F Unfortunately, these areas have limited life span and it is very difficult to secure disposal sites when the old ones expire.
- G Every effort should be made to lessen it if practicable.
- H In the process of producing consumer goods, more natural resources need to be used.

PART 5

Questions 33 to 40 are based on the following texts.

Read the texts carefully and answer the questions that follow.

The MediaA – Isaac, Bank Officer

Today, I think it's important to be well-informed about national and world affairs, which isn't difficult now as the internet has become a news medium. News is immediately available as it happens and readily accessible online without charge. It is more eco-friendly as compared to traditional newspapers!

B – Tan, Freelance Content Creator

For years, I've been following The Wow Wilds. It is indeed an absorbing television channel with lots of fascinating series about wildlife and the natural world. I prefer watching moving pictures with sound effects while relaxing on the sofa. Reading a book is so dull in comparison.

C – Ruby, Secondary School Pupil

There are thousands of live-streaming internet radio stations to choose from! For me, it's truly entertaining and informative by listening to the music and following conversations about all kinds of topics. And in the meantime, I can do other things. Suddenly, sweeping and mopping the whole living room is no longer that dreadful.

D – Vivy, Personal Shopper

I fancy style and fashion, therefore I'm interested to see what the major fashion houses have planned for the upcoming season. I always read Fab Icons - the only magazine that features articles about the latest trends by influential fashion editors. I always find glossy magazines with eye-catching covers to be attractive.

E – Nick, Administrative Clerk

I'm a loyal subscriber to the Daily News. I commute to work on the bus, and I always have a copy with me. That makes my ride far more interesting. I know browsing the Web is convenient, but I still like traditional newspapers. Unlike a screen, the print rarely gives me headaches or eyestrain. It's worth every cent.

F – Bella, School Teacher

Teenagers around me often read e-books on smartphones or tablets, yet I love holding books, turning the pages, and storing them on my bookshelves. No matter how, these gadgets will not be like proper books, which I can simply pick up and open. I don't have to worry about constantly charging them, at least.

Questions 33 to 36

Using the information given, which paragraph (A to F) describes the following views on media.

For each question, mark your answer on the answer sheet.

	Statement	Paragraph
33	I enjoy cleaning the house more with the songs playing.	_____
34	I surf the net to read the news since it is always free and updated.	_____
35	It is more appealing to view something with motions and sounds.	_____
36	Reading a real book is more relaxing than using an electronic device.	_____

Questions 37 to 40

Using words from the texts, complete the summary below. Choose no more than one word for each blank.

Write your answer on the answer sheet.

Benefits of Media

The media plays a vital role in our life and is no doubt a powerful means of communication. Newspapers, television, and radio are examples of (37) _____ media that have existed for years. The way we consume information has changed, though. Thanks to technological advancements, everyone now can access the (38) _____ information on politics, business, sports and entertainment in Malaysia and worldwide. In addition, downloading and sharing online content such as on social networking sites and entertainment websites, is becoming more and more (39) _____. Anyway, we should avoid from (40) _____ scrolling on our phones. Keep in mind everything can be a double-edged sword!
