Malaysian Superstitions in the Forests

Aliff works as a forest (21) _____ in a large rainforest. Many people visit the forest because of the scenery. However, some visitors believe the forest is also mysterious and fascinating, which can lead to some weird (22) _____.

Aliff explains that the forest is usually peaceful, but it is important to (23) _____ the forest spirits. One day, while guiding hikers, a woman in the group said she heard someone whispering her name. There was no one nearby. Aliff advised the group to remain (24) _____ and not reply to the voice. According to local belief, voices in the jungle should not be answered because they may be dangerous.

Aliff also shared his experience during a search and rescue operation. A young man went missing after taking a (25) _____ hike alone. He later said he met a woman who showed him a shortcut. Rescuers found him deep in the forest, (26) _____ and afraid. However, no one can say for sure if the woman was a supernatural being or just the hiker's (27) _____.

When asked about how the rescue team found the missing hiker, Aliff explained that they searched near rivers and marked trails. They also did not shout loudly, which some rescuers believe helps. Hours passed, and they were (28) _____ when they found him inside a cave, weak but alive.

This experience teaches hikers a few important lessons. To begin with, safety comes first. Then, hikers should always respect nature by being careful and respectful of local (29) _____. Lastly, Aliff's reminds everyone that although nature is (30) _____, we should not treat it as a playground.
