Georgetown – An illegal immigrant jumped into a monsoon drain in Jalan Sungai in a bid to escape an Immigration raid. The attempt on Tuesday was futile as an enforcement officer saw the man jumped into the drain to stop him. After a brief struggle, the 27-year-old immigrant was hauled up and detained along with 52 others, including Vietnamese and Indonesian nationals, for various immigration offences. The incident caused traffic congestion as curious motorists slowed down to watch.

Questions 16 – 25

Read the following brochure and answer the questions that follow.

HEALTH BENEFITS OF COCONUT WATER

Here are some of the benefits of coconut water which explain why it has become so popular.

REDUCES HIGH BLOOD PRESSURE

Coconut water is high in potassium and some studies have reported that low level of potassium has been linked to high blood pressure. Therefore, drinking coconut water regularly can help in regulating blood pressure. Similar recent studies also have found that coconut water can help raise HDL (good) cholesterol, which makes it an excellent natural treatment for maintaining good cardiovascular health.

STRENGTHENS THE IMMUNE SYSTEM

The Lauric acid in coconut water has antibacterial, antifungal, antimicrobial and antiprotozoal properties, which help strengthen the body's immune system against a variety of viruses and illnesses.

KEEPS THE BODY HYDRATED

Since coconut water is packed with all five electrolytes, the body has, including potassium, magnesium, chloride, calcium and sodium. Altogether, it plays an important role to keep the body hydrated during physical activities. It is reported that United Food and Agriculture Organization (FAO) have fought for a patent in 2000 to promote coconut water as the next big sports drink.

AIDS IN DIGESTION AND METABOLISM

Coconut water contains various bioactive enzymes such as acid phosphatase, catalase and RNA polymerases which help to overcome problem in digestion and metabolism. Drinking coconut water on a regular basis has been shown to be effective in dealing with abdominal discomfort.

Questions 26 – 31 are based on the following passage.

- 1 When Andrew Yap and Jacqueline Ng started the Big Bad Wolf sale back in 2009, they did not expect it to be one of the biggest book events in Southeast Asia. The million-dollar, round-the-clock sale with books going for as cheap as RM3 has become one of the most crowd-drawing events in Malaysia, beating the likes of MATTA Fair, PC Fair, Homedec, and any other type of warehouse sales, according to Yap. 5
- 2 Starting out BookExcess back in 2006, the husband and wife team has always kept to the company's objective : "to give." Seeing that only 2 percent of the Malaysian population are book readers, they started sourcing for affordable but quality books to cultivate a reading habit among Malaysians. 10
- 3 Ng recalls having their first Big Bad Wolf sale in DataranHamodal. It was their first time organising a sale and they had no idea how the response would be. "I hired 50 staff to handle the sale and only two of them were readers. We had two events that year, in May and in November. In May 2009, we had 120,000 books and back then we had no experience. I had to wait for each pellet (carrying box) to arrive and it took ages. We had customers waiting and following the trolleys for the books. 15
- 4 It was a positive response, despite being their first time organising such an event. At the end of the sale, the part-timers who didn't read became avid readers because they saw how crazy the crowd was over. Ng received an email from a lady who brought her brother to the sale and it had 'converted' him! "The brother was just there to carry books and he wasn't into reading. His sister told him to just pick any two books and she would pay for them. After that, he became an avid reader." 20
- 5 Last year there were 3 million books for sale during Big Bad Wolf and it was a non-stop shopping event for customers, some coming from as far as Thailand, Singapore and East Malaysia. The Big Bad Wolf is such a hit among bookworms that some people even take annual leave just to buy books! "Previously, I had an express lane to reduce the long queues but I found out that there was hardly anyone who bought less than five books. They usually carry boxes and trolleys of books whenever we have the Big Bad Wolf sale," says Ng. Yap mentions that to go is 5am when there is a lull. You'd be surprised to find that the peak hours are from 2am to 3am! 25
- 6 Ever wondered how the name Big Bad Wolf came about? Ng says Yap proposed the idea one day when they were planning to have a book sale. Everyone objected to it, saying it had a negative impression because the Big Bad Wolf is the villain in the fairy tale, Little Red Riding Hood. Somehow or rather, Yap made up his mind and despite objections, the name stuck. When the graphic designer came up with the logo, Ng and the rest of the staff liked it. 30
- 7 "The Big Bad Wolf name is cheeky and catchy. We even have a storyline for our fans on Facebook." Every year the Big Bad Wolf sale has a theme. Previous themes include a spaceship and superheroes. "There was one year where we changed our Facebook cover photo to look like a newspaper called 'The Daily Howl'. It was part of the storyline we created to make it engaging 35 and fun for our fans.” This year, it’s all about pirates. The storyline involves 3 million books being stolen by pirates and the Big Bad Wolf has to sail the seven seas to find them! “By creating this event, we encourage people to come even though they are not readers. Our mission is to increase readership in Malaysia and so far, we’re very happy with the response. The biggest challenge we face is cost,” says Ng. 45

8 Every year, Yap and Ng outdo themselves, adding more books to the already staggering amount of books they have. But handling 3 million books is no ordinary feat and Ng thinks it would be too “saturated” if there are more books this year. 50

32 Read the following poem below and answer the questions that follow.

ARE YOU STILL PLAYING YOUR FLUTE

Are you still playing your flute?
 When there is hardly time for our love
 I am feeling guilty
 To be longing for your song
 The melody concealed in the slim hollow of the bamboo
 Uncovered by the breath of an artist
 Composed by his fingers
 Blown by the wind
 To the depth of my heart.

Are you still playing the flute?
 In the village so quiet and deserted
 Amidst the sick rice field
 While here it has become a luxury
 To spend time watching the rain
 Gazing at the evening rays
 Collecting dew drops
 Or enjoying the fragrance of flowers.

Are you still playing the flute?
 The more it disturbs my conscience
 to be thinking of you in the hazard of you my younger brothers unemployed and desperate my people disunited by politics
 my friend slaughtered mercilessly
 this world is too old and bleeding
